Jeez, I guess Veronica forgot to tell you all how she and Don took Magnus from the back of James's car and drove away. That James is by court order not allowed to contact or try to visit Magnus. He has not heard from Veronica for a long time, not when Magnus had to go to hospital, not when Magnus had lice, not when Magnus said his first word or any of the other important events in his life. I know that Veronica has the ability to e-mail him and if she forgot his e-mail address, she can ask for it. Yet James is breaking himself to make sure that Veronica get child support even though he was NEVER served papers. He is working to pay off Credit card debts incurred in Veronica's pregnancy (doctors visits, food, shelter, clothes, gifts for her family). He ends up with maybe the equivalent of $2 for every hour he works and that is for his food, gas, etc.

The things that James posts on his websites are truth. There are witnesses to back up his story. Did you ever consider that maybe Veronica was the one telling the lies? Did she tell you how she threw a knife at him? did she tell you that she was verbally abusive in front of the children?

Maybe you should reconsider your opinion of people before you believe.

Where to start.....

I'm the aforementioned "Don" and I'd like to set a lot of things straight. I'm sure that this post will be deleted from this live journal so it will be posted in other public forums where it might be relevant.

To start, we never "took Magnus from the back of James's car and drove away". Here's what actually happened and the events that led up to it.

About 3 months before they had split up, Veronica got to the point where she couldn't stand James' pettiness and mental/verbal abuse. He drove her into a state of depression by constantly saying things like, "This baby isn't mine" throughout her pregnancy which caused her post-partum depression to be even worse. For the last two weeks or so of James' contract with Nortel, he stayed at home a majority of the time. This led to daily arguments as he would accuse Veronica of "sleeping around" and a lot of other horrible things. Veronica realized that she wouldn't be able to live with this man for the rest of her life let alone much longer. With James still cutting her down on a daily basis, the depression got to the point that she had to take Prozac. You call this a great person?

Veronica did the best thing she could have done and left James on the afternoon that you spoke of above. She was a few blocks away from my old apartment and called me to ask if she and the kids could stay there until her mom could pick them up. I said ok and she came over about 5 minutes later. She got out of the car and then brought the kids into my apartment where I ordered them pizza and we waited for her mom to get there. The only person that "drove off" was James and his friend.

What "Court Order" are you talking about?

There was a hearing held to determine Magnus' custody. James was served papers and was given every opportunity to show up. Instead, he never did and used the excuse that his friend was detained at the metal detectors because of their nipple rings. Even if a person has a Prince Albert, they aren't detained for an hour. In that event, they might be detained for 10 minutes at most so I'm willing to bet that he never showed up. If he did, do you think that he would have waited at the metal detector if this hearing was so important to him? In America when one party does not show up the other party is awarded a "default" judgment. In this case the Judge declared a default judgment and informed Veronica that whatever her custody request was, it would be granted. At that point, Veronica told the judge that she didn't want to take custody away from James and that she sought a joint custody status. If James ever read the papers then he would know all of this. You say he never has seen a copy of them? They're public record and can be obtained for 6 bucks. If he isn't knowledgeable enough to find the cause number then I will dig it up for him if requested. There never was any court order placed on James barring him from visitation of his son.

James would never acknowledge the fact that Magnus was his son until after a DNA test proved him to be. The credit card bills you speak of, were run up by a lot of excess shopping by Mr. Allen. If Veronica asked to buy a pair of shorts, she would get scolded yet for him to buy a MSDN subscription for 3k+ was just fine. Is that any way to treat a person which you claim to want to marry?

Veronica and I are together now and are getting ready to have our first child sometime in Feb. While the costs of having this child aren't cheap, they are not nearly as large as James' shopping habits once were. So if he wants to feel sore about his credit card debt's, he should look closer at what he spent.

Another thing that I'd like to get straight is that James Allen doesn't know shit. He lucked out and got a contract with Nortel (through Tek Systems) during the boom and never delivered a functional and finished application and Nortel has since given up on it. He's a lot of talk but anyone who can read a magazine and learn current acronyms, would have had what it would have taken to land a job in those days. When Nortel's stock plummeted from 70 to less than a buck, there wasn't any way that they would have tolerated his incompetence any longer. The time frame had gone well beyond what could have been considered a "capital expenditure". Why do you think he hasn't been able to find good work now? Why do you think he wasn't given a good reference? I can ask these questions all day long but instead I would like to move on to my next point.

He was informed of his custody status in emails from Veronica (which we still have) and agreed numerous times to see Magnus (including once on his first birthday) at neutral places since James wouldn't ever come and pick him up. James never showed up for any of these meetings either.
This post has taken more of my time than what James is worth so I'm going to close it now. My point is, James LOVES to play mind fuck games with you and make you feel like you've always done something wrong to him and that has actions fatherly actions could be described in depth by the definition of the word abandonment.

You also don't seem to need much in the way of a valid reason (i.e. having to present evidence), you just need to say someone has done something and poof you seem to be able to get one. Now I could be wrong on this, but that's what my research on a few legal websites has shown. I hope this helps somewhat. hugs

⚠ Re: how do you get restraining orders

See if you consider him/her to be breaking any laws, such as one of these::

- Title 9 § 22.01. Assault
- Title 9 § 22.07. Terroristic Threat
- Title 9 § 42.07. Harassment
- Title 9 § 42.01. Disorderly Conduct
- Title 9 § 42.072. Stalking

If so, then you should have no trouble. Just list the Statute that you beleive applies, and it should not be contested. Most of those are subjective from the "victim's" point of view, so it's hard to argue.

Welcome to the James Arnold Allen "reality check" website!

<http://www.jamesarnoldallen.com/>

This page has been established by friends of Veronica Petersen and Don Beal. It's sole purpose is to show how one person can create thier own reality and then try to pawn it off to as many people as possible. James Allen does exactly that in an attempt to try and make people feel guilty for actions they've never done. In fact, James is a very sad and troubled person who needs help. If anyone who reads this recognizes his symptoms and knows of a good way to recommend him for the asylum, please email contact@jamesarnoldallen.com. He truly needs some serious help.

Background

James and Veronica had a child together in spring of 2001. James has made MANY slanderous statements which are false and unfounded. Here are a few of the primary facts which have been falsified by Mr. Allen.

1. James NEVER accepted Magnus as his son untill after a paternity test proved him to be.
2. James went nearly two years without providing any kind of support for his son.
3. James has not made any attmepts to see his son over the last 2 1/2 years of his life.
4. James does not provide Medical Insurance for his son as ordered to by State of Texas.

"The WebPages"

These are web pages with falsified statements that Mr. Allen has posted. They are (or were at one time) all listed on his "business" site(s) <http://www.shadowdancers.com> , <http://www.militech.org> and <http://www.shadowdancers.org> .

Current mood: ☹ insubordinate

<http://wild-bohemian.com/nestdisc.htm>

this is funny to me. i like the part aboutthe ramp making it easy to drag secraming ppatiens to shock therapy.

theirs anyother one about mixing apple juce with urine samples .

he can talk to other genrals and army consultants. he can tlak about all his law suits where hes sewing every one. he may figure out where he is and just start demandng his rights or jst screaming and get the shock.

id visit him those days.

stuped jerk
Current mood: ☹ quixotic

mad dog bark brak mad dog bark

i was wondreing why in stead of making my sister pay for his run up credit cards and for rent and food and stuff for thta big mouth crazy his famly dont just declair him incompletent and save every one the torble. he wont admit he been crazy but so what hes crazy. no one should lestne to him any way.

i think my sester can even collect discability for taking care of him insted of running up govt money sending him of to the nut farm. he wuold be on medication and that would be good.

it wont ever hapen tho be cause if she admitted that he was insane that wuodl mean that she been living a lie and all his strois a bout being rich one day were all lies to and she waisted years of her life with a lunatick. and what dose that make her. that makes her a biger loser. be cause shes not crazy. that make her more stuped than him.

i do not want to wate for him to be a dangre to him self or others. i want him put a way now. sad thing is they dnt keep the crazys locked up any more.

like in that old movie one flew over the coocoos next.

now thats hwat I would like to se hapen to that hjerk. get that big indina t smack his head in. litle electrashock here and threr first.
